Volume Twenty-One of

The Gothic

Mr. Joseph A. Leary

Headmaster

Foreword

The headmaster extends to you, members of the Class of 1949, his sincere congratulations on the successful completion of your studies at the Brighton High School. You have shown by means of examinations that you can think clearly and logically, and that you have acquired a useful and valuable fund of knowledge.

However, it is hoped that your education did not stop there. Your school has had the serious responsibility of inculcating in you an understanding, and an appreciation, of the American form of government, and you should have developed a burning desire to maintain and to protect it against all who might attempt to destroy it. If the Brighton High School has met this challange, you will go forth, loyal citizens of this great republic in which you are privileged to live.

That in the years which lie ahead you may enjoy good health and happiness and that you may see your efforts crowned with success, is the sincere wish of your headmaster.

Dedication

To the success of all graduating classes of Brighton High School. May Alumni of the Castle on the Hill transmit unending fame to their Alma Mater.

"A sacred burden in this life ye bear;
Look on it, lift it, bear it solemnly;
Stand up and walk beneath it steadfastly.
Fail not for sorrow, falter not for sin,
But onward, upward, till the goal ye win."

Editor's Note

As editor of the 1949 "Gothic", I should like to express my appreciation for the good fortune of having such cooperative faculty advisers, and such an excellent staff with which to work.

In preparing this Volume, we of the staff constantly have kept foremost in our minds that a school yeara book should in years to come bring back pleasant memories of high school life.

We sincerely hope that this has been accomplished in the 1949 "Gothic".

"All the world I've sorted out
Into classes two—
Folks that I can do without—
And you!"

Our Tributes

Miss Mary E. Thompson

The sudden death, on May 19, 1948, of Miss Mary E. Thompson, our beloved Bookkeeping teacher, was a severe blow as well as a great loss to the pupils and faculty of Brighton High School.

Miss Thompson was a dependable and conscientious teacher who made her pupils enjoy Bookkeeping while learning its complexities. Her's was the task of training commercial sophomores in habits of accuracy, honesty, and neatness. This she accomplished with considerable ease; for her natural tact and patience, plus a sincere sympathy developed respect and cooperation.

While her loss to us has been great, to her family it has been irreparable. In this modern world there are few daughters so happily devoted to their homes and mothers. Today there are few who are more deeply religious and who carry that religion over to their every act. Of her, it can be truly said that she spoke ill of no one. She was the happy possessor of a pleasing manner, a generous heart, and a willing hand.

The goodness and beauty of her life have enhanced the teaching profession.

Miss Gertrude A. Poor

After more than thirty years of faithful, loyal service, Miss Gertrude A. Poor retired from the faculty of Brighton High School on September 30, 1948. When she started as an instructor of physical education, it was the privilege of every girl who entered Brighton High School to come under her direction. And truly it was a privilege to be guided by one so fundamentally fair-minded, with such warm human sympathy and quiet understanding. During this period of her career, she organized the girl's council, the forerunner of our present Student Council, and make of it a vital part of the school life—and many a former council member must look back with pride to the contribution of this organization to the proper functioning of the school.

Upon the transfer of the school from the present Taft Building to the "Castle on the Hill," she it was who drew the plans for our impressive Class Day exercises, which give such a splended opportunity to show our spectacular setting. These exercises will continue to be a fitting tribute to her.

In 1941, Miss Poor, a pioneer in the field of Health Education, transferred from the gymnasium to the classroom when she introduced to the Brighton High School the first course in Health Education in the Boston Public Schools. This transfer to the classroom necessarilly ,but unfortunately, decreased the number of girls to come within her sphere of influence—but in no way was Miss Poor's zeal diminished as she continued to teach her girls to accept willingly their responsibilities in an adult world.

God grant that Brighton High School may be blessed with many more teachers who will follow in her footsteps, exerting the same quiet influence for good—and may God grant to Miss Poor many years of happy, healthy life in her Cape Cod home.

Miss Alice M. Hurley

The resignation of Miss Alice Hurley filled the hearts of her pupils with mingled emotions of joy and sorrow. Glad were they to think of her as enjoying a happy married life, but sorry to realize that no longer would they have the privilege of attending her classes.

A member of the Commercial Department since 1938, Miss Hurley brought to her classes a thorough knowledge of the commercial branches, as well as a keen insight into the difficulties and problems of youth. Her enthusiastic eagerness to help her pupils, and her gracious friendly manner made her loved and respected by all who knew her.

It is the fond hope of both teachers and pupils that Mrs. Joseph Reardon, as Miss Hurley is now known, will enjoy in her new life the happiness that she so richly deserves.

Miss E. Theodate Burpee

The retirement of E. Theodate Burpee has left a vacuum in 207. Miss Burpee, a native of Lakeport, New Hampshire and a graduate of Smith College, is remembered by a host of associates, graduates and pupils for unswerving loyalty, integrity, patience even with the underprivileged and the unendowed, tolerance, unadvertised generosities, and a keen understanding of the problems of youth.

She has reached the important milestone in her career which is not the end but the beginning. Emancipated from clocks, calendars, and daily schedules, she can now follow all the exciting bypaths that the pressure of routine has hitherto denied her. She may choose to follow the sun. She may prefer to watch the change of seasons at her beloved lakeside retreat, from the day the ice goes out in April until the trees put on their riot of color in October.

Whatever her choice, we wish her years of good health and a continued serene outlook on life, so that she may be able to drain the last drop of enjoyment from every new experience.

Miss Josephine Gildea

Returning to Brighton High School in September 1948, many pupils heard to their disappointment that Miss Gildea would no longer be found in room 321. What these pupils had failed to realize was, that Miss Gildea had been loaned temporarily to Brighton. She really belonged to the faculty of Boston Clerical School. The headmaster of that school realizing her exceptional teaching ability requested that she return. What Boston Clerical School has gained, Brighton has lost.

The faculty and student body alike will always remember Miss Gildea for her keen sense of humor plainly visible in her twinkling gray eyes, her broad smile and her infectious laughter. Her fondness for sports endeared her to many, particularly her golf, bowling and tennis teams. All who were in these groups found her not only an expert instructor but a gay companion and a good sport.

Those pupils who needed a comforting word or advice on a personal problem found Miss Gildea unusually sympathetic and understanding. Through her insistence on a high standard of work many were able to attain success in both the business and the academic world.

We are all happy for Miss Gildea and hope that she is finding her work at Clerical School enjoyable. Always, there will be a place in the treasure chest of memories of those who were privileged to know Miss Gildea as teacher or friend.

Mr. Mathew Butler

When we first heard that Mr. Butler had received a promotion to Head of the English Department at the High School of Practical Arts, we were very pleased. But after a while our pleasure was tempered with the sad realization that, of necessity, it would mean his leaving Brighton High School.

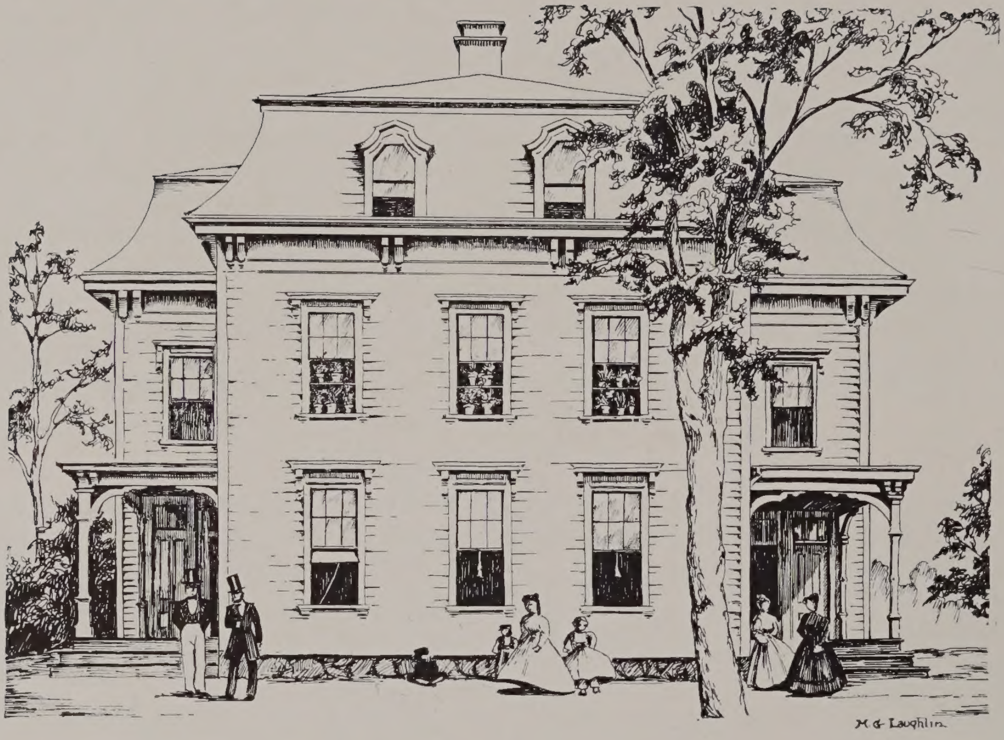
In his classroom work Mr. Butler was an excellent teacher, but he had something more that made many of us envy him. He had a warmth and understanding that brought out the best in the shy pupil, that fired a diffident pupil with ambition.

Recently, we overheard a comment by a pupil who was looking sadly at the red-inked English III mark on his report card.

He said, "That Mr. Butler is the hardest marker in the school. Then he added, "But he's fair."

Perhaps that sums up better than any words the regard in which the teachers and pupils held him.

Somehow Brighton High School won't be the same without Mr. Butler.



The Pioneer Building

In the year 1841, long before Brighton became a part of Boston, the Brighton High School was established.

The above-pictured pioneer building was erected when William Harrison had become President, when Daniel Webster was Secretary of State, and when Andrew Jackson was still living. In addition to a birth with such historical 'greats' in the government, the Brighton High School was started when neither Florida nor Texas had been admitted to the Union; moreover, the Civil War was to take place twenty years hence. To be sure, these were the olden days!

In the school, however, old as it might seem, the pupil was taught the same high moral and intellectual standards that are taught in the present-day Brighton High. Both in this old school and in the imposing structure of our modern building, youth has gained the old-fashioned high moral background and the new-fashioned intellectual training.

We, the youth of today, salute the old Brighton High School which has been a memorial to the early Brightonians and a blessing for us later Brightonians!

Presidential Message

Probably the most poignant moment in the life of a Senior comes when he is forced to think realistically of the days ahead. Abruptly, in the whirl of excitement of the Senior Play, the Prom, Class Pictures and the hundred other amusing, diverting activities, it becomes clear, tragically clear, that he is doing all these things for the last time. A few short months— and where will he be? His friends....... his classmates? He did not want to admit it before, but school has been a haven of refuge, a protecting wall against the stern realities of life—against that harsh, bleak time when he will be on his own, to face a hostile, or, at best, an uninterested world. It is in just such flashes of intuitive apprehension that one's school takes on new meanings. The all too familiar faces of teachers, alternating wrath and benevolence,are suddenly seen as the friends, guides, and mentors they really are. For the first time, their patience and kindness is transparently clear. Indeed, the quiet, steady sacrifice of our parents, their counsel, admonitions, and watchful care are briefly sensed and partly understood.

But even now it is difficult to admit that the bright, golden days—the carefree, halycon days are passed—and done with. More of youth is left, but the sheltered, protected, free-and-easy time is over.

Of course, it's easy to swallow the lump in the throat as we bid farewell to our Alma Mater. It's easy to pretend we're glad to be done with the routine of classes and assignments. But deep down, we are hesitant, uncertain—it is not easy to leave this pleasant little world to enter a larger, grimmer one.

And so, for the first time—but certainly not for the last, we pay tribute, a deep and heartfelt tribute to our parents, our teachers, and our school—As Spokesman of the Senior Class I thank you; thank you all.

The Student Council has had a busy and successful year. Banners, pins and handbooks were sold at the beginning of the year. The Council Musical, under the direction of Miss Wilson and Mr. Burke added a great deal of enjoyment to the school year.

The Eastern Division of Student Councils met here in December. This convention required a great deal of time and work, and we should like to thank all those who contributed in any way toward making this meeting a success. The members of the Council also appreciate the time and energy Miss Wilson put into directing the Council, while preparing for the Convention.

The new method for electing members to the Council worked out splendidly. It has provided a closer contact with the student body, and will be continued for another year.

GERALDINE GILDEA, Secretary

Convention of the Eastern Division Massachusetts Student Councils

On December fourth the Student Council really did itself proud for not only did they work feverishly—on a Saturday—to entertain over two hundred guests at the convention of the Eastern Division of the Massachusetts Student Councils, but they also were praised by the Officers of the Convention for having a most interesting and different entertainment. This praise was well earned, a statement to which anyone at Brighton High on the big day could attest.

Although registration was from 10:00 to 10:30, long before that time many members working on the committees were scurrying along the corridors, putting the finishing touches to the lunch room, the auditorium, and placing the necessary signs in prominent places.

After general registration the Convention gathered in the Auditorium for the greeting of their regional president, James T. Larkin, of Quincy High School for a brief message from Mr. Leary, and for further salutation by our own Council President, the hard-working Joan Cavicchi. Then the assemblage went to the discussion rooms along the second floor, where many varied topics, all concerned with bettering the place of the Student Council in the school as a beneficial organization, were actively discussed by leaders and visitors. The leaders of these debates were not from Brighton High, but from nine different schools, as far away as Burlington and as near as Girls' High School.

When the delicious food at the banquet had been consumed with gusto, we reconvened in the auditorium to hear Dean Judson Butler, of the Boston University General College deliver an address on the importance of developing the qualities of leadership. He praised the work of Student Councils, saying that it not only benefited the schools in which they functioned, but that it also aided the individuals participating in the councils. James Larkin conducted the business meeting of the council, and Maureen Barton, '49, who was the Convention Treasurer, spoke concerning the budget. Entertainment under the supervision of Mr. Burke, included two pieces by the Glee Club, a dance by the Brighton Hi-Steppers (composed of Dorothy Hull, Carol Broulliard, Joan Harris, Jean Foynes, Joan Bannon, and Julie Zaffuto), a solo and encore on the accordian by Julie Zaffuto, a trumpet solo by John MacIsaac, and solos by members of the Glee Club. To finish the program of the day, a dance was held in the auditorium, with music provided by Louis De Angelis, who made his first professional appearance as a band leader at this school that day, using the name of Larry Keane.

Forty melodious voices were joined in harmony to form the Girls' Glee Club. Under the excellent supervision of Mr. Francis Burke, the girls performed at various meetings and assemblies, including the Parent-Teachers' Association and the Christmas and Spring programs. They also provided a beautiful chorus for the annual talent show of Brighton High School. Along with their talent for singing, they had an active interest in all types of music. The weekly meetings usually came to an end with a song by one of their many soloists or a classical piano piece by one of the more talented girls or Mr. Burke. Other times the whole Glee Club joined in a lighter song. As we leave our wonderful Glee Club, we are sure that each successive year will bring more girls with excellent voices.

One of the most interesting and active clubs of B. H. S. is the Art Club.

Its members consist not only of talented individuals, but also of those who wish to acquire a better knowledge of the various types and uses of art. Its purpose is to awaken in the minds of these individuals an appreciation of art and its beauty.

Our group activities were greatly enjoyed by the extended use of water color paints in the making of cards and posters, clay modeling, slides, and wood-painting. Visiting the famous Art Museums of Boston, and studying the different types of furniture of each period, proved to be very educational to all who took advantage of this opportunity.

Our sincere gratitude is expressed to our capable and patient faculty advisor, Miss Glennon, who so willingly devoted her time and efforts in making this year so successful.

We wish to extend our best wishes to all future members of the Art Club.

The Dramatic Club had a pleasant year under the able direction of Dr. Joseph L. MacNamara. The members of the club received valuable training in various aspects of dramatic interpretation: voice control, diction, and the use of gestures.

The election of officers was an exciting event. A great deal of talent was discovered during the competition. During the year many members of the club enjoyed an increase of poise and speaking skill.

We are deeply grateful to Dr. MacNamara for imparting to us some of his knowledge of public speaking and dramatic interpretation.

The Reading Club is the Honor Society of Brighton High School, for girls who receive honor grades in English. Meetings were held every third Tuesday in the library or Room 324.

Throughout the year many pleasant hours were spent listening to poems, excerpts from stories, plays, discussing both classical and current literature, and enjoying appetizing refreshments. During the holidays such as Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter, pertinent programs were presented. In addition, there were tours that included the House of Seven Gables in Salem, the Longfellow House in Brattle Street, Cambridge, and Mrs. Jack Gardner's Palace in the Fenway.

Brighton Towers

Throughout the year the boys and girls producing BRIGHTON TOWERS have had as their objective the development of a camaraderie found only in this school. Notwithstanding the cost of materials, our business managers solicited enough subscriptions to allow for more pictures and articles than we have enjoyed since before the war. Quality, too, has benfited from a new system of advertising. We have brought to the student not only up-to-date articles, pointed editorials, and a complete coverage of all sports events, but we have tried to knit a closer bond of regard for the fellow man, to forge respect for colour and creed. As the medium of expression for over a thousand pupils, we have worked towards a better school through recognition and coverage of activities—the many clubs, the Student Council, the guidance department—which serve them. Our thanks go to Miss Marshall, who has guided us during this year, and to Messrs. Barry and Walsh, who directed the advertising and circulatory ends. We hope that every student will remember with pleasure BRIGHTON TOWERS of 1948-1949.

Orchestra

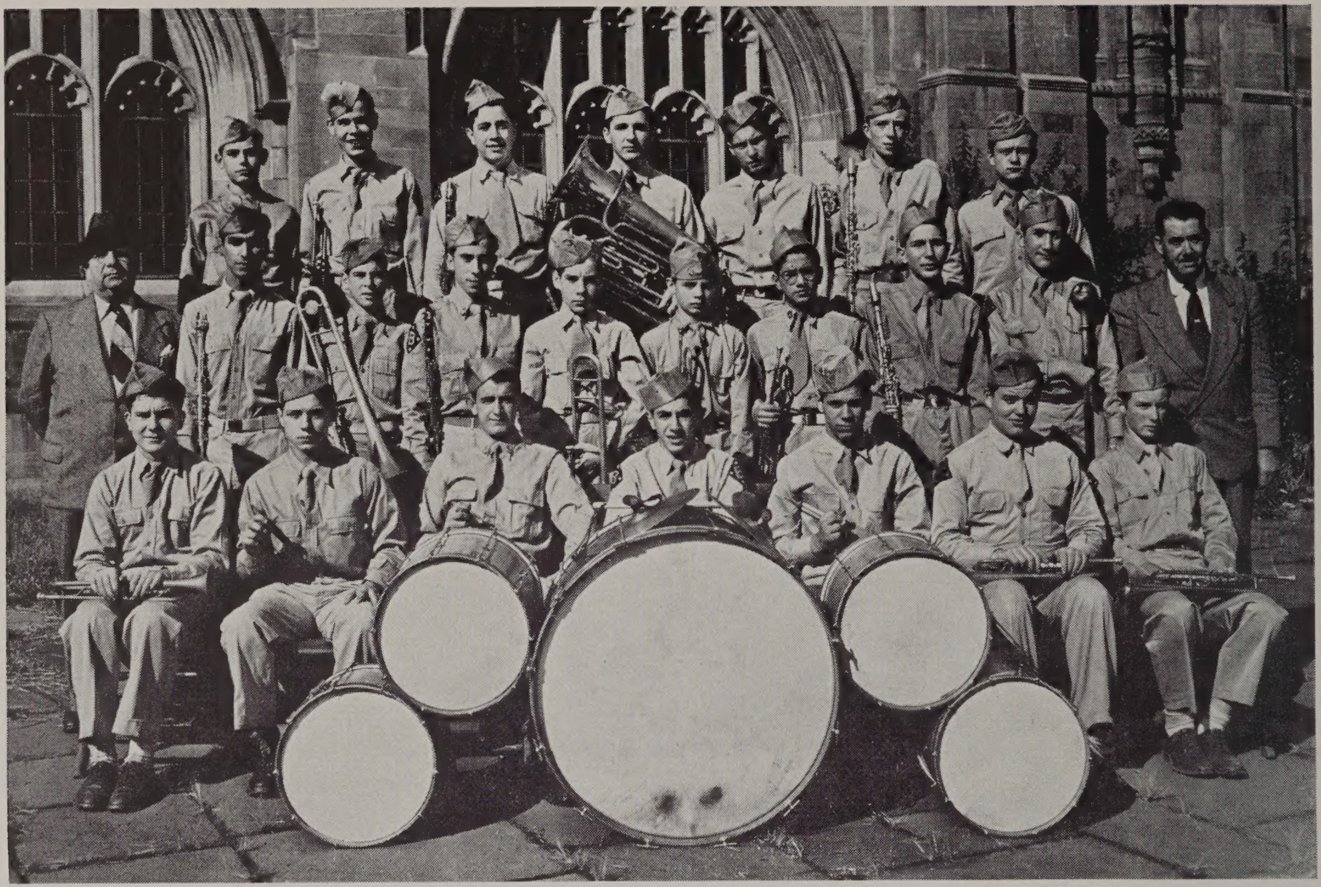
President	Marilyn Belcher
Vice-President	Louis DeAngelis
Secretary	Marian Hurwitz

This year, on account of the enthusiasm of its members, the B. H. S. Orchestra, under the superb direction of Mr. Trongonne and fine management of Mr. Gibbons has developed into a splendid musical organization.

Many times during the year the orchestra has been called upon to perform, thus proving it an important factor in making various school assemblies more enjoyable. As in the past, the orchestra had the honor of playing at the Senior Play at the colorful Class Day.

The orchestra meets once a week on Thursday. Its members express its sincere wishes for another successful year.

MARILYN BELCHER



Band

Captain	Richard B. Stevens
First Lieutenant	Dante Marinelli
Second Lieutenant	Edward Byrne
Drum Major	Louis Casale

The 1948-49 Brighton High School Band considers itself one of the finest musical outfits that this school has ever had. Although for the past few years the Brighton Band has been exceedingly good, this year has brought us a group of unusually talented musicians who are expert on a wide assortment of instruments.

On every occasion that we have been called upon to perform in assemblies, we have won the enthusiastic approval of students and faculty. Therefore, we believe that, when put to the test, on prize drill day and in the schoolboy parade, we will inevitably come through with high distinction.

The band meets three times a week for instruction and ensemble playing and, unlike other years, we are given one period each week to practice. In addition, we have one homeroom period each month for drilling with instruments.

The greater part of our success this year is due, of course, to the excellent guidance of Mr. Fortunato Sordillo and the able instruction by Mr. Patch, Mr. Gardner, and Mr. Barrett, teachers of Brass, Drum, and Woodwind, respectively. We are genuinely grateful, also, to Mr. Fickett who has given so unsparingly of his time and interest.

RICHARD B. STEPHENS

Drum Corps

The Drum Corps is a military organization in our school whose purpose is to provide marching music for the cadets. This year due to a change in program we lost all our seasoned players and we were forced to recruit a whole new corps. With the aid of Major Sullivan we secured about thirty volunteers. These boys have, through their interest and hard work done a commendable job producing one of the finest Drum Corps Brighton has had in recent years.

This activity is directed by Mr. Calabro. He is ably assisted by Mr. Gardner, who instructs in drum and Mr. Patch who teaches bugle playing. These men are experts and any boy interested in drum or bugle has an excellent opportunity to receive instruction on either instrument thus becoming a good player benefiting himself and his school.

Our goal this year as in previous years is to win first place in the Bugle and Drum competition in the street parade.

Key Club

The Brighton High School Key Club, in its second year of existence, enjoyed a most active and successful year. Fortunately, we had the cooperation of our Head Master, Mr. Leary, himself a Kiwanian, and our faculty adviser, Dr. McNamara, as well as the sponsorship of the Allston-Brighton Kiwanis Club.

Officers elected for the year '48-'49 were:

President .... ROBERT HORNE
Vice-President .... WILLIAM YOUNGQUIST
Secretary .... DAVID WOOD
Treasurer .... WILLARD WALDER
Board of Directors .... JOHN BURNS
MICHAEL AUCIELLO
JOHN WARD

Activities included: sponsoring of CARE package collections, boosting Brighton High School sports, and establishing relations with other Key Clubs.

Every Tuesday it was the privilege of two of our members to be the guests of the local Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon, where we enjoyed good food, good fellowship, and interesting programs with prominent men of the local business world.

Senior Play

One of the major social events on the calendar for the class of '49 was the Senior Play. Held on April 1 in the auditorium, the suspenseful, laugh-provoking mystery-comedy proved to furnish a pleasant evening for all who attended.

Under the superb direction of Mr. and Mrs. Burnham, the cast had rehearsed for months in an effort to make Stranger in the Night a successful play. Jean Foynes and Selma Cohen, who ran a gift shop just off the lobby of a large hotel, were informed by roving-reporter Jackie Burns that a murder was to be committed in the hotel; the name of the victim was written on a piece of paper in one of the gifts in the shop. Nearly everyone, including Bob Whitley, Betty Titus and Joan Peers, felt that his was the fatal name. However, Jackie finally solved the mystery with the aid of Bob Frye, the backstage policeman. Of course, love was a must; romances between Jean and Jackie, Selma and Charlie Wilson, and Julie Zaffuto and Bob Whitley had developed. Just for fun and laughs there were Natalie Newman, Don Fenton, and Marian Sternlieb. But how can we forget the talented, dramatic portrayal of the mysterious Stranger in the Night by Skip Burke?

Norma Hachadourian and Barbara Merrit, the prompters, were indispensable to the cast; and what progress could have been made without the marvelous cooperation of Tobey Rosenberg, Property Mistress, and Bob Frye, Stage Manager?

Yes, April 1 was a memorable evening for the cast, for the production assistants, and above all, for the enthusiastic delighted audience.

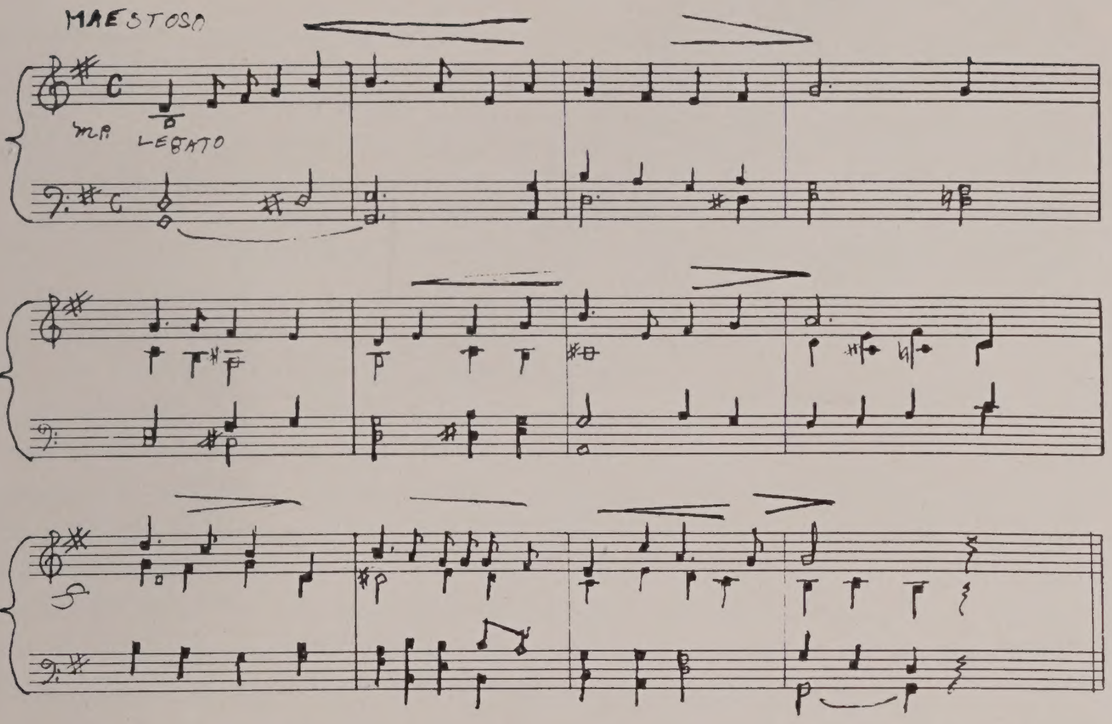
Spirit of Brighton High School

Class of 1949

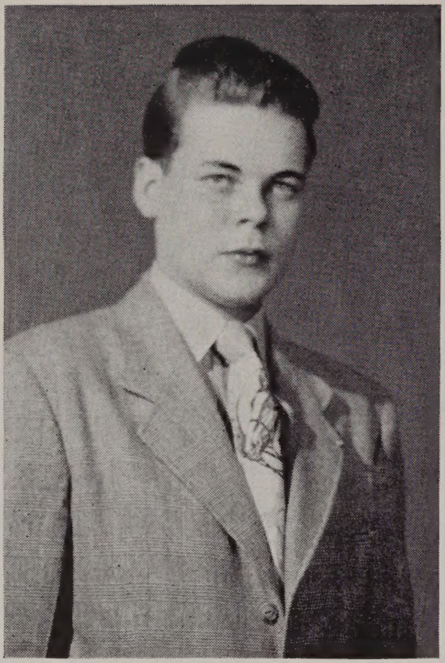
Class Song

By Jane Lee Williams



Dear Brighton High, beloved guide,
We leave your sheltering halls,
With wisdom marching at our side,
To act, when duty calls.
Where'er we go,
Whate'er we do
We shall be loyal, strong and true.

As we start bravely on Life's way
We'll carry through the years
The precepts we have learned each day,
In laughter, hope and tears.
Where'er we go,
Whate'er we do,
O, Brighton, we will honor you.



William Youngquist
Class Herald

Class Day

Class Day, the most appealing and stirring activity of the year, will always remain secure in our treasury of memories.

The exercises as usual, were conducted on the terrace, in the auditorium, and in the gymnasium.

TERRACE

Arrayed in white, Ann Carrigan, symbolizing the Spirit of Brighton High School, was seated in the place of honor.

The Herald, William Youngquist, stepped forward to deliver the following address:

I. Hear Ye! Parents and Comrades! We the Class of 1949 gladly welcome you on this our festive day. For three years Brighton High School has been our Alma Mater. Now we stand at the open door, ready to leave her sheltering walls for the great adventure of life. Ere we say a courageous "All Hail" to the unknown future, we pause for a sad and grateful farewell to our loved school.

II. Some of us merit especially recognition for high scholastic achievement which brings them well-deserved rewards, and reflects honor on their school.

1. Let the winner of the Anna Judson George Scholarship for excellence in English receive from the Spirit of her Alma Mater the symbol of her victory.

2. Let the winners of the Brightelmstone Club Scholarships step forward and receive the meed of their intellectual conquests from the Spirit of Brighton High School.

3. Let the Senior and Junior honor students unite in placing the laurels of their attainments at the feet of their Alma Mater.

4. We now bestow praise on a member of the Senior Class, Patricia McVey, who has been conspicuous during the year in promoting the Brighton High School Spirit by her interest in physical education and who has been personable, faithful, honorable, and reliable.

   a. Let Patricia McVey come forward to receive a medal which betokens her accomplishment.

   b. We also commend Harold Connolly, a member of the Senior Class, wha has distinguished himself by his work in physical education.

   Let Harold Connolly come forward to receive a medal of his accomplishment.

5. To one school we are loyal, and in our loyalty we are united. But we are many members in one body. Our various courses gives opportunity for full development of various powers.

a. Let a representative of our Co-operative Course, Michael Pagliarulo, appear to pay homage to our Alma Mater.

b. Let next a member of our Commercial Course, Carol Brouillard, render grateful acknowledgment to her. To these two let there be joined one from our College Course, Barbara Parshley, that together all three may show honor to Brighton High School and receive medals which shall commemorate their high standing as scholars in whom Alma Mater may justly take pride.

III. Ere we move out into the ranks of the Alumni, we transmit to our successors certain privileges and responsibilities which we have held gladly and faithfully during our senior year. We relinquish these offices to our Junior Comrades with the hope that they may regard them as opportunities for serving the school, and, in filling them, add fresh glories to the name of Brighton High School.

1. Let the President of the Senior Class, Robert Jango, invest the President of the Junior Class with the insignia of his office.

2. Let the President of the Student Council, Joan Cavicchi, transmit to her Junior officer the symbol of his authority.

3. Let the Editor of the Towers, Barbro Berg, pass on to her successor the tokens of her high office.

IV. Now shall the Chief Marshal, Julia Zaffuto, escort into the presence of the Spirit, our Head Master, Joseph A. Leary, that he may receive from the Editor of the Gothic, Robert Horne, a perpetual memorial—the gift of our year book.

Class Oration

Joan Peers
Class Orator

Mr. Leary, members of the faculty, friends, and especially my fellow students:

The time has finally come for us to say good-bye to our Alma Mater and to decide upon our future. Yes, the time has come for us to close the final chapter of our happy high-school life and to venture into the torn, ragged, weary world of today. To some who have traveled its course it is a world of tears and sorrow, to others a world of gaiety and laughter, but to you and me a world in which we must find some small corner to settle down in and call our own.

But are we prepared for what we shall see when we take our first few steps into this world of tomorrow? Are we prepared to face either a war or a depression both of which seem inevitable? Are we, the future citizens of tomorrow, prepared to face the fate of our country?

It is for us to help keep America free from racial hatred, religious prejudice, and a Communistic government. We must never permit the United States to be ruled by Communists, as are the countries in Europe where the people are herded like cattle, under a few men, trained to worship the state instead of the individual idea, taught to despise religion, and to deny God. In this sense, Communism is the abolishment of freedom, and the word freedom symbolizes our America.

When we hear that the children in Russia are taught that world conflict between Communism and Democracy is inevitable; when we see that the problems facing us today are so many and so serious; then we must accept all difficulties with a knowledge that if we possess courage, tolerance, and devotion to our ideals, we shall not falter; and we, as intelligent patriotic and fearless citizens of the United States, will be able to unravel the tangled threads of our country's difficulties in a manner that will bring honor and credit to our generation. We must prepare today; for if we do not, there will be no tomorrow.

As we leave the castle on the hill and start up the road of life, we shall find it will not be the smooth paved road we followed in our high-school life, but rather one that is rough and full of ruts. Many a time we shall want to turn back or fall on the way; but if we remember our class motto: "He who is not prepared today will be less so tomorrow," we shall find that we can continue on our way, with new courage and hope. The road to success is a long and tiring one, but with every effort and God's help everyone of us can reach the top.

Our school life has not been all work and no play; nor has it been all play and no work. We have seen many of our dreams come true; but we have also seen many of our dreams break into small pieces and decay. However, we have accepted these trifles willingly, knowing something larger was in store for us.

As we climb the ladder to success, no matter how many rungs are missing, no matter how tired we get, always remember to look up, never look back, for our future rests in the hands above.

Before we lave our school, in true Brighton High School spirit we wish to thank our headmaster and all our teachers for their untiring efforts to make us good, honorable, well-informed citizens. Also to our dear parents we give all our love for their sympathetic understanding of our problems and difficulties.

Joan Peers

Class History

Ann MacPhee
Class Historian

As we reminisce over the past three years, we recall the joys, sorrows, successes, and failures undergone in our cherished days at Brighton High School. Looking back to the day we lightly tripped up the hill to the school of our dreams, we recollect that our tiny hearts were fluttering with apprehension. Once within the gray castle like structure, the enchantment was smashed to fragments, for we were lost! Unable to find any information booths, we were forced to ask the high and mighty seniors for direction to our home rooms. Many of us did go to the lunchroom as we were bidden, to wait for further instructions from teachers. As hours rolled by, we sat and waited there but no one came until the lunch bell sounded. At that time we had our sweet revenge. We sat while our directors, the seniors, stood. After that, however, we didn't ask for instructions, even if it did seem that we were late for our classes by about twenty minutes.

The location of our lockers in which we were to keep our coats and books caused us no end of trouble. Finding them required radar.

Soon we began to recognize different members of the faculty. We learned that Miss Fielding had entered the school when we did, that Mr. Fickett and Miss Stuart had returned from valiant work in the armed forces just for the honor and privilege of instructing us! Dr. Looney, alas, responded to the call of duty as the headmaster of the High School of Commerce, but we knew that he could never compensate for losing contact with us. Mr. Moloney, who replaced Dr. Looney as head of the history department, seemed to be properly appreciative of his good fortune in having us as pupils.

Conscious of our own superiority, we nevertheless pretended that we were still the humble sophomores whenever the arrogant seniors were around. We watched with awe their antics in the elections, and their dramatic prowess in Tricking Tricksters.

We were greatly releaved when June came, bringing a well earned vacation for us.

Having firmly established a beachead, we returned to Brighton High School ready to take our positions as Juniors. At a special assembly, Mr. Leary told the boys that appearance was very important, while he emphasized the subject of neckbands. The males, heading his request, were always prepared with their ties .....in their pockets Mr. Leary, however, was most generous to those without ties. He kept them after school with him each night for an hour or so. But this detention period served only only to make up for their lost and fondly remembered home room period.

Other changes in school administration greatly affected our lives. All the Junior boys hoped to be invited to join the Key Club, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club; and almost all, boys and girls alike, hoped to be chosen for important governmental positions when the students of Massachusetts took over municipal and state offices for one day.

Some of us turned prematurely gray because of those small, yelloy (many decorated in red) cards issued regularly every two months. Teachers marveled over how our marks improved as the year progressed. Little did they know that this improvement was the results of the effarts of our parents.

Soon came the time for us to elect Junior Class Officers. As we had foreseen the year earlier, we had a bigger and better election than those super beings, the seniors. Following much electioneering, many campaign promises and vain regrets that everybody in the class was not eligible for office, we finally honored Jack Burns, as President; Joan Peers, as Vice-President; Gerry Gildea, as Secretary; and Angie Cugini, as Treasurer.

As the year drew to a close, some of us wished to remain in school for the summer months in preparation for the senior year, but this ambition was promptly squelched.

After a seemingly long vacation, we returned to school filled with great expectations of what our senior year would hold in store for us.

Many changes in faculty occured during this, our senior year. Miss E. Theodate Burpee, who had been with the commercial department since 1916,and Miss Gertrude E. Poor, who had taught Physical Education and health since 1913, retired; and we felt a sense of loss as we were deprived of their understanding, tolerant help. Miss Alice Hurley had resigned to be married, while Miss Josephine Gildea had left us to go to Girls' Clerical School —how could they leave us in thelurch? Later in the year Mr. Butler left to become head of the English Department at Practical Arts High School; Mr. Moloney resigned to work for the Municipal Research Bureau; Dr. Moore, loaned to us from Dorchester High School, left to go to the Veterans School. Miss Rhodes, from Hyde Park High School, found a warm welcome from us when she joined our faculty, as did Mr. O'Keefe. Mrs. Flynn emerged from the lower depths of the school to keep us healthy, while our new gym teachers Miss Blagdon and Miss Keating, were responsible for our singing So Tired after each period with them. Many of us altered the name of the song to So Sore or I Ache All Over.

Indeed, so startling were these many changes that at times we wondered just who our teachers were!

Our parents, however, found no such difficulty when they came to visit the school on Open House night in mid-November. Somehow they ferreted out the identities of our instructors, and welcomed the praises sung in our behalf. All who came were deeply impressed by the maturity and excellence of those of us who took part in the Office Practice demonstration.

Not only among the faculty did we find many changes. For the first time in the history of the school, we, the seniors, elected our cheer-leaders. These soft, sweet-voiced little cherubs were Maureen Barton, Gerry Fitzwilliam, Captain Jean Foynes, Gerry Gildea, Kay Needham, Jeanette Rivers, Elsie Smith, Valerie Vincent, Joanne White, and Julie zaffuto. It was no wonder our football team had such a successful season with all the cheering they reeived. To us the team was wonderful, and we could see no reason why they could not play in the "Salad Bowl" on January first.

On December 4th, Brighton High School entertained two hundred Student Councillorsfrom various sections of the state. The morning program consisted of registration, an address of welcome in the auditorium, small meetings in classrooms and a deliciousluncheon served in the cafeteria. In the afternoon, Dean Judson Butler of Boston University addressed the entire group who had reconvened in the assembly hall. A dance in the gym completed the day. The praise our councillorsreceived was well-earned.

Came the time for the elections, and it was a common sight to see us seniors dragging ourselves down the corridors. The weight ofthe multitudinous campaign signs which extended from our drooped shoulders to our tired feet hindered aur usually rapid motion. On election day each candidate somehow got up on the stage; and with his knees knocking and teeth chattering made his campaign speech. Hard as it was to make our decisions, we finally succeeded in electing Bob Jango, President; Gerry Fitzwilliam, Vice-President; Gerry Gildea, Secretary; Angie Cugini, Treasurer; Joan Peers, Orator; Jeanette Rivers, Joan Harris, and Charlie Segal for the executive committee. Our Marshals were Julie zaffuto, Elsie Smith, Kay Needham, Rita Maitland, Joanne Bannon, Francine Roberts, Charlie Hilton, Bob Whitley, and Charlie Powers.

Although we didn't get the three day school week, two hour lunch period and elevators that we were promised by candidates if they were elected, we were satisfied with our choice.

On the night of April 1st, we were shown to our seets in the hall by lovely ushers to witness the performance of our senior play, Stranger In The Night. Mystery, comedy and romance combined to make the play a crashing success. Critics raved over our performance; but we, being very modest, you understand, just agreed with everything they said.

Held at the Hotel Bradford on the night of May 27, our prom was a never-to-be-forgotten event. One could never believe that such suave, sophisticated, well groomed individualls were the tieless, bobby-soxed boys and girls of every day.

And now, fellow classmates, we are gathered at one of our very last meetings. This long-anticipated Class Day finds us not wildly elated as we had always envisioned ourselves, but faintly sad at the thought of leaving the sheltering protection of our Alma Mater. Let us hope that always we will follow the paths she has pointed out to us, that we will always be loyal and true to the lofty principles she has instilled in us.

Anne M. MacPhee

Class Poem

As Time moves swiftly on its destined course,
Hurrying us from this dear familiar scene,
In memories fond our hearts shall linger here,
Keeping thy laurels, Brighton ever green.

Let not remembered joys of vanished days
Make us neglectfull of our chosen role:
With eager expectation must we seek
The light that becons toward our distant goal.

Our youth we match against the world's dark need,
Enhance it with our hopes, and our desire
To use each fleeting moment valiently
In noble deeds which Heaven may inspire.

Our loftiest vision, like a rising star,
We follow, strong, untiring in pursuit;
Not tarrying in the path of slothful ease,
But marching forward, bold and resolute.

The love of truth, implanted in our souls,
Shall flower in action worthy of thy name,
Dear Brighton High! With purpose firm and true
We'll win new garlands to augment thy fame.

Senior Promenade

On a warm spring day of May 27, boys and girls hurried home to await the eventful evening of their Senior Prom.

Our Prom, whispered over and over again and impatiently awaited by the Student Senior Body, was fulfilled in every expectation.

By nine o'clock couples were arriving at the Hotel Bradford. Going through the French doors, they saw before them the beautiful redecorated ball room just ahead, sat the eleven piece orchestra. The Balloon Dance and Spot Dance were featured novelties of the occasion and various prizes were given to the lucky winner.

Our popular President Robert Jango very ably led the grand march with his lovely partner. As the farewell waltz, in dedication to our headmaster, was played, we all realized that we were approaching the final chapter of our high school life.

The Senior Class is grateful to the members of the Executive Committee: Joan Harris, Charles Segal and Jeannette Rivers for their help in making our Prom a success. We would like to express our heartfelt gratitude to Mr. Fuller for his great interest in our behalf.

Cheerleaders of "49"

This year for the first time the cheerleaders were chosen by popular election. The results were as follows: Seniors—Jeanne Rivers, Geraldine Fitzwilliam, Valerie Vincent, Jo-Anne White, Maureen Barton, Julia Zaffuto, Katherine Needham, Geraldine Gildea, Elsie Smith, and Captain Jean Foynes. Jean Sampson, who will serve as captain next year, was elected by the junior class. The girls practiced long and arduously, beginning weeks before the opening game. Finally at the season's opener, we appeared dressed in the traditional black and orange. Employing new and old cheers, with the help of the student body, we cheered the Murphymen on to victory.

Cheerfully yours,

JEAN FOYNES, Captain

Football

Mike Pagliarulo was the captain of the Brighton High football team. Our headmaster ranks him as one of the best captains to lead the Orange and Black.

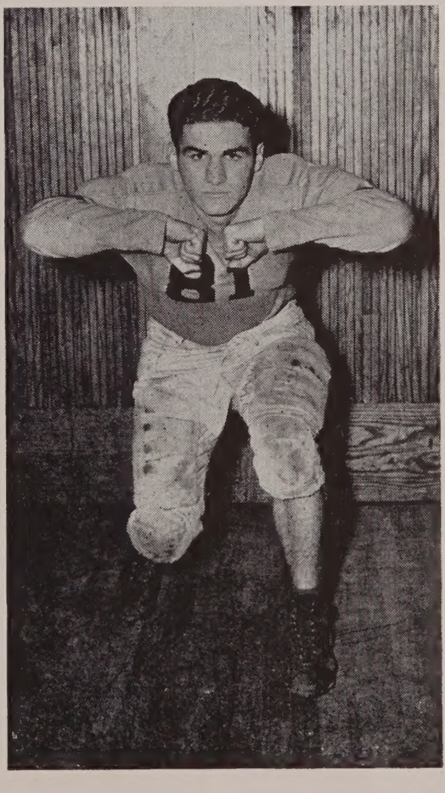
During the 1948 football season the team did exceptionally well, winning five, losing one and tieing one of their eight games. Because of rain, the team was deprived of playing their traditional rivals Roslindale.

We started our season by winning a thrilling opener, by defeating Hyde Park 7-0. After tieing Brandeis, a strong Dorchester team set back the Murphymen 6-0. We then bounced back trouncing Jamaica Plain 13-0. We beat East Boston 14-7, overwhelmed Charleston 32-0 and in our last game we took South Boston 12-0.

The passing of Ronnie George, the great end play of Jack Burns, and the line play of Mike Pagliarulo played a great part in our many victories.

Coach Murphy said that the 1948 football team ranked with the great teams of 40-41.

JACK BURNS



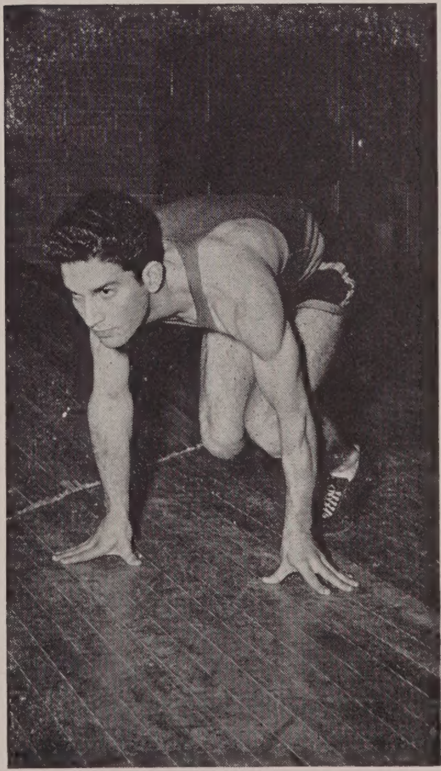
Hockey

This year's team was very well organized by the return of several letter men of last year. Under Mr. Burnham's able leadership, the squad began practice around the first of December. The practices were light due to the lack of ice.

With the experienced material such as, Jack Burns, Ron George, Charlie Wilson, Stan Penton, Chuck Hilton, Bill Moran, Cliff Rogers and Skip Burke, plus the enthusiasm of the new comers, the team had a successful season.

We hope that the future Brighton Hockey teams will uphold the standards set by the teams of the past and do as well as the Hockey team of 1949.

JAMES BURKE, Captain



Track

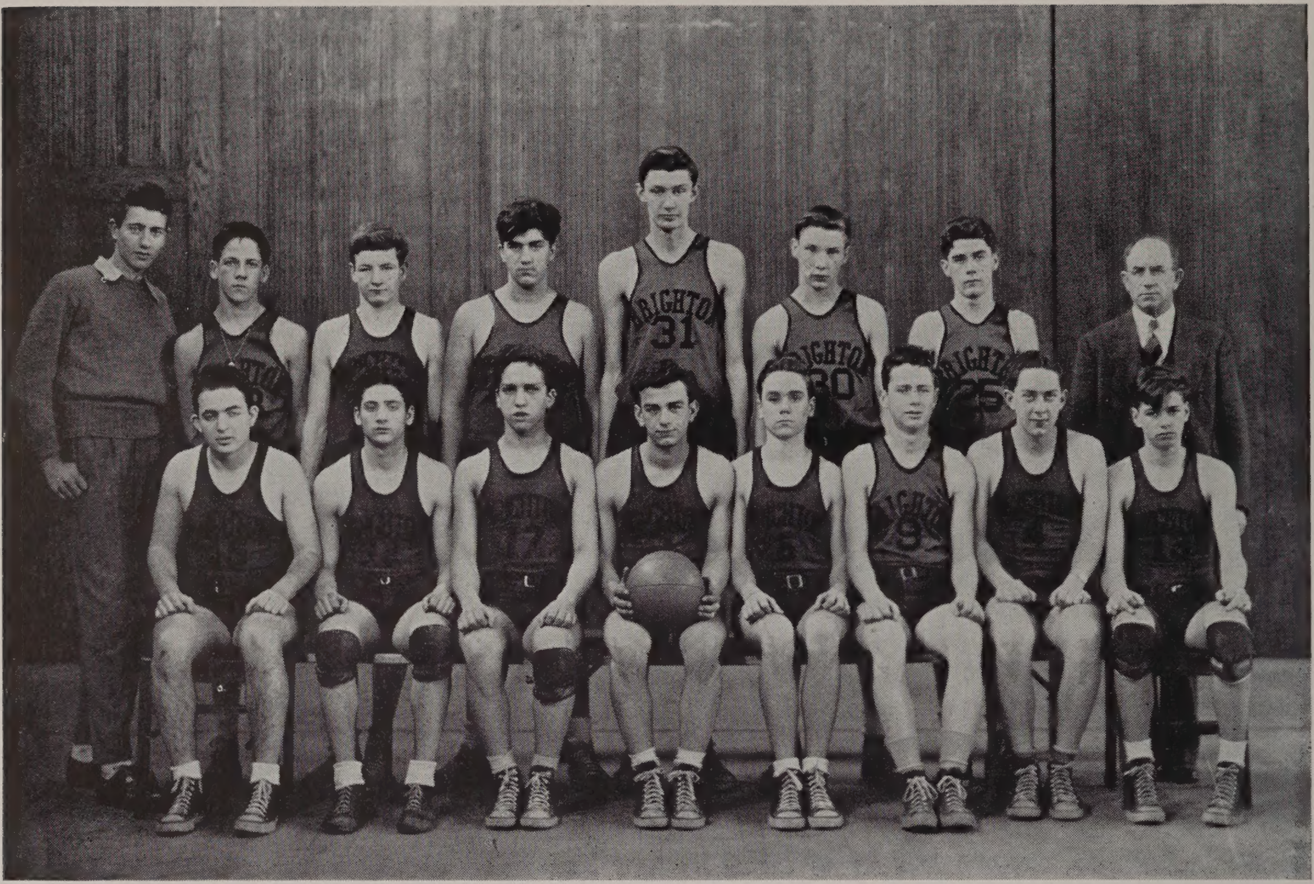
Brighton tracksters turned out in large numbers at the call of Coach Murphy for the opening of the 1949 Track season.

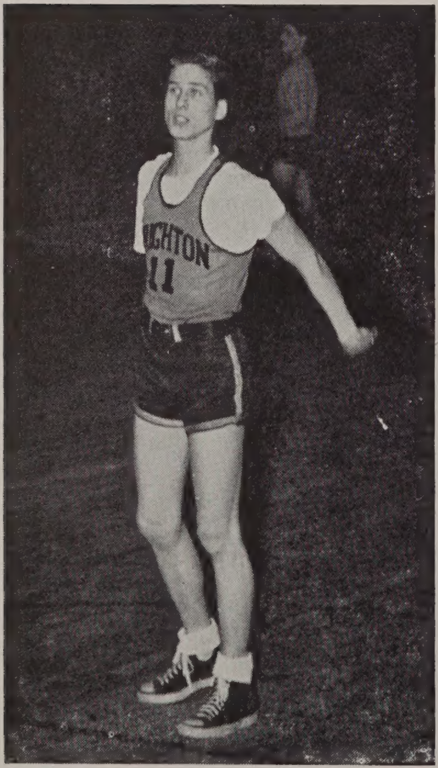
Returning letter men of the 1948 season were Edward Reid, John Melia, John Connors, Richard Bentfield, Robert Colleran, John Driscoll, Charles Stamos, Cyril Potter, and champs of both District and Regimental Meets, John McGrath, Robert Murphy, Edward Freedman, and Mike Auciello.

We, the members of this "49" Track Team, give our sincere thanks to Coach Murphy for his support and guidance throughout the entire season.

We hope that future Brighton High School Track Teams will go on to success as did this present Track Team of 1949.

MICHAEL AUCIELLO, Captain





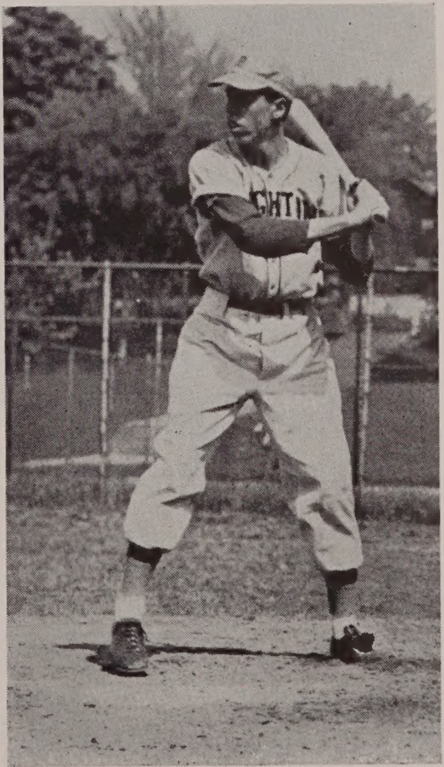
Basketball

This year, for the first time, the Boston High School Basketball League was divided into two divisions. As in football, there was a city league and a district league. B. H. S. was in the running to win their first championship in the district league since the inception of basketball in the Boston schools.

Brighton's basketeers welcomed only four lettermen, but Coach John Fuller had a fine nucleas with which to work, in the form of last year's Sophomore team, said to be the smoothest, best coached J. V. team in the city of Boston.

Although he faced a difficult task Coach Fuller's charges did very well. A fine squad was turned out and we had great things from the Fuller five of 1949.

ALBERT SMITH



Baseball

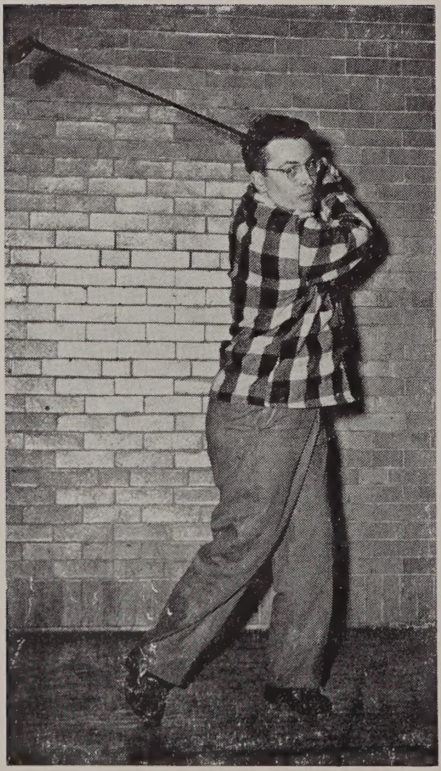
Because of the numerous Juniors and Sophomores on last year's team, we had an excellent team this year.

Some of the outstanding players returned this year are Bob Murphy, Dick Bentfield, Ron George, Mike Auciello, Don Heath, George Noonan and Jack Burns. Since these boys, sophomores and juniors, had much experience last year they made a good showing this year.

Last year's seniors whom we lost by graduation were Captain Bob Foster, Chick Cheethem, Ned DeCourcey, Don Lowell and Lee Kowitz.

All thanks and appreciation are given to Coach Murphy and Coach Burnham for the excellent leadership, which they gave all boys on the squad. The baseball squad of 1949 has done its best to bring fame and fortune to this, our school.

JACK BURNS



Golf

This year is the fourth anniversary of the introduction of golf as an athletic activity in the Boston High Schools.

Brighton High School's golf teams have had three very successful seasons. The team finished in second place twice after nearly winning the championship.

As captain, I wish to thank the members of this year's team, Robert Fenton, Donald Cody, Donald Gibson, Arthur Cullati and Robert Serbagi for their cooperative spirit and sportsmanship this year.

Girls' Basketball

In the middle of December the girls who were interested in basketball met with Miss Keating in the girls' gym. Every Tuesday afternoon the basketball enthusiasts practised the fundamentals of the game to improve their playing. When the girls had learned the rules, shots, passes, and a general knowledge of the game, teams were formed and competition began.

The members of the basketball team of "49" are looking forward to next year when they will play with both old and new members. The girls express their sincere thanks to their excellent coach, Miss Keating. The "old timers" wish future basketball teams of B. H. S. the best of luck.

JANE McGAFFIGAN

Girls' Swimming Club

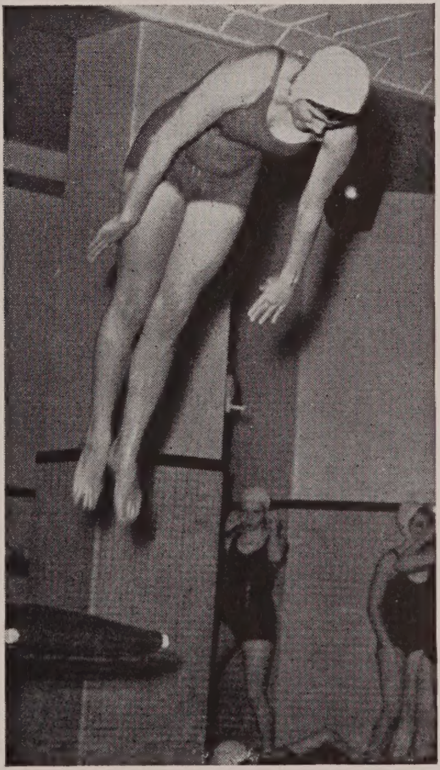
The Swimming Club of Brighton High spent a most enjoyable hour every Wednesday at the Y. W. C. A.

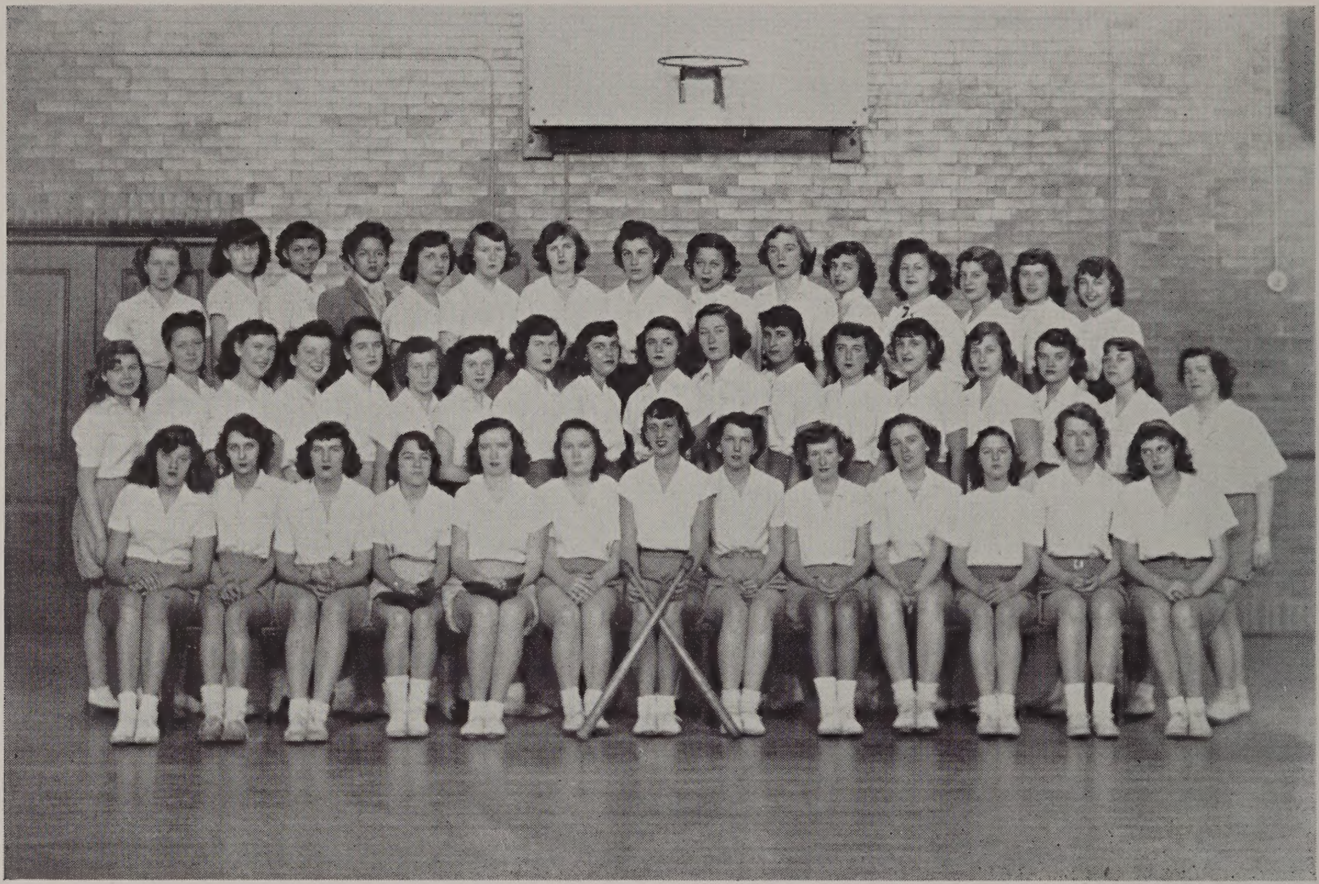
The girls learned the fundamental strokes, plain and fancy diving. They also acquired in swimming, the art of relaxing and feeling free and easy in the water.

This class turned out many fine swimmers and divers, some of whom may even go further in this field.

Altogether, a most agreeable time was had by all and we all wish to give a vote of thanks to Miss Keating, who was kind enough to give up some of her spare time to "chaperone" us to the "Y".

SHEILA RING





Girls' Softball

When Spring came it brought to B. H. S. an excellent season of softball. Our first few meetings were spent practising and learning the fundamentals of the game. Captains were soon chosen and teams selected, then we were ready to play. Many an afternoon was spent in playing a vigorous game of softball and we often left practise slightly hoarse from cheering our team to victory.

All to soon the season ended and now the players are looking forward to another good season next year. From Miss Keating three big cheers from an appreciative team. To all future players, good luck and many homeruns!

JANE McGAFFIGAN

Girls' Bowling

Bowling is a grand sport that we would surely hate to miss. It has certainly brought much enjoyment to many of the girls at B. H. S.

To make the Bowling Club more interesting and exciting, this enthusiastic group of girls formed teams, each attempting to outdo the other. At the end of the season, prizes were awarded to the three top-notch bowlers and one to the bowler who has received the lowest score.

With the aid of our capable director, Miss Keating, this year's bowling club has been one of the most outstanding sports of Brighton High School.

GLADYS MUDARRI

Girls' Golf

Despite the lack of experienced players the Golf Club, under the capable supervision of Miss Hopkins, has enjoyed weekly instructions at Franklin Park. Each and every member hopes to continue in this sport for many years to come and perhaps have the good fortune to become another Babe Didrickson.

Although few seniors participated, we earnestly strove to make the club a success. Our only hope is that we have left to the sophomores and juniors our keen interest in the game, and our ideals of fair play and sportsmanship.

Some of the most enthusiastic members of the club were Marie Butera, Barbara Dennehy, Dawn Howard, Alice Jacobs, Emily Imbriano, Joan Lalime, Edith LeBuff, Emily Davis, Joan Pettit, Judith Pathenberg and Annellen Comerford.

EDITH LeBUFF

Girls' Tennis

This year the girls' tennis team accomplished a great deal under the direction of Miss Keating and a fine group of girls participated in this sport.

The instruction and games took place at the school and at the Cleveland Circle Tennis Court. The girls all became quite adept at the game and enjoyed the sport immensely.

We all sincrely thank Miss Keating, who sacrificed her time for our benefit.
